

PRONUNCIATION – TH

A. WORDS WITH TH (VOICELESS)

/θ/

- thank, thick, thief, thin, think, thing, three, thousand, Thursday, thirty-eight, thunderstorm
- athlete, author, nothing, toothache, wealthy, everything, worthwhile, anything
- bath, earth, teeth, cloth, north, myth, mouth, youth, faith, underneath

SENTENCES

- He thanked the wealthy author on Thursday for the third time.
- I think the athlete ran three thousand metres to the north.
- It is a myth that when you are thirty-three you have lost your youth.
- There is nothing worthwhile in a thunderstorm.
- I think the thin thief ran north with the cloth underneath his arm.

B. WORDS WITH TH (VOICED)

/ð/

- that, than, the, their, then, there's, they, they'd, they'll, they've, this, those, themselves, therefore
- mother, other, bother, brother, breathing, clothing, father, feather, gathering, lather, other, rather, soothing, weather, worthy, brotherly, together

SENTENCES

- Their mother was gathering the clothes together.
- They've had a lot of bother with the weather.
- They'd rather gather those berries with their mother.
- There's their other brother, together with their father.
- Therefore they'd rather go together.

C. MIXED

- There's the wealthy author whose brother has toothache.
- The weather from the north on Thursdays is soothing.
- They have nothing other than each other, the weather and their youth.
- Those thirty-eight thieves were brothers.
- They'd rather have a bath with their clothing on.